MACMASTER/HAY

Mary Macmaster (The Poozies, Hidden Orchestra, Sileas) and Donald Hay (Nuala Kennedy Band, Mystery Juice, The Unusual Suspects) combine to produce a beautiful, powerful and unique sound.

Mary is one of the world's leading exponents of the Camac Electro-Harp and the wire-strung clarsach and has been at the forefront of Scottish music since forming the ground breaking harp duo Sileas.

Donald's sensitive and dramatic drumming has him in high demand. He's performed on The Transatlantic Sessions with Jerry Douglas and Ali Bain as well as recent festival appearances with Shooglenifty.

Macmaster/Hay are taking the harp into uncharted territory. Add to this Mary's beautifully pure vocal and Donald's cool grooves, atmospheric percussion and sampled sounds and the result is a truly fresh, dynamic take on Scotland's music.

In their life as a duo Macmaster/Hay have produced two CDs: Love and Reason and the recently released Hook; recorded a live session for the BBC's Late Junction; performed at The Celtic Connections Festival in Glasgow, The Edinburgh Festival Fringe, The Edinburgh International Harp Festival, Lorient Festival Interceltique and The 3rd Australian Harp Festival in Canberra.

In late 2009 they both collaborated with Sting on his CD If on a Winter's Night with Mary performing with him on "Later with Jools Holland" and appearing on the 'Live at Durham Cathedral' DVD.

Macmaster/Hay's elegant and emotional live show conjures up visions of a beautiful, yet dangerous Scottish landscape. A magical new setting for traditional music. An uplifting cinematic experience.

"This is moody, meaningful new Scottish music"
