If you haven't already bought the following three recent publications then make sure you do!

Te scruit is a series of short stories by Graham Naylor. A beautifully produced book these stories are a fantastic addition to the increasing amount of written material in Manx.

Recently produced by the Manx Heritage Foundation Skealyn Lewis Crellin is a series of stories written by the late, great Manx Gaelic scholar, Lewis Crellin. The stories are accompanied by a CD of Stewart Bennett narrating the stories.

Christopher Lewin's first publication (of what we hope will be many) is Jough-laanee Aegid as Skealyn Elley. Including two stories translated from Hans Christian Anderson this is a brilliant collection.

All should be available from local booksellers but if you have difficulty finding them then contact Graham on 01624 878377 for Te Scruit; the Manx Heritage Foundation on 01624 838527 for Skealyn Lewis Crellin and Yn Cheshaght Ghailckagh on 01624 623821 for Jough-laanee Aegid as Skealyn Elley.
